Urvan Wolters Is Charged With Taking $11,000 From Railroad Company.

FREIGHT DEPOT CASHIER

Auditors Declared Books In Good Shape When Man Disappeared July 25.

Urvan Wolters, cashier of the freight depot of the Ashland division of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company at Kaukauna, who disappeared mysteriously nearly a month ago was in the city jail at Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday, awaiting the arrival of Deputy Sheriff J. F. Bellow who will bring him here to face charges of taking between $10,000 and $11,000 belonging to his employers.

Wolters' disappearance attracted considerable attention in Kaukauna at the time but gradually failed to excite comment. At that time railroad auditors issued the statement that he had left his accounts perfectly straight in every way. Railroad officials were silent in regard to the matter and neither the district attorney nor the sheriff would make any statement in regard to it.

Wolters disappeared from Kaukauna Wednesday, July 27. He was apprehended in Los Angeles under the name of Jack Clifford. Deputy Sheriff Bellow was dispatched from Appleton Wednesday afternoon and will arrive in Los Angeles on Sunday to take the prisoner in custody. He is expected to return here with him about the middle of next week.

GERMANS USE U. S. MONEY TO FIGHT YANKEE BUSINESS

Americans Are Demanding Return of Money Seized During the War.

Special to Post-Crescent

Berlin.—Americans are vainly asking the German custodian of alien property for millions of marks which the German government seized during the war.

This amounts, as nearly as can be computed, to 206,000,000 marks.

In addition, the German government is holding securities to the value of 126,000,000 marks, owned by Americans and on deposit in German banks.

These millions of marks are at Germany's command to help finance her contest with America for foreign trade.

The German custodian of alien property tells these Americans that he cannot restore these monies and securities until peace is formally concluded between the United States and Germany.

Other countries which have signed the Versailles treaty have settled up property matters with Germany as between state and state, each country looking after the rights of its nationals.

The German custodian is aggrieved at the way in which former Attorney General Palmer and his alien property custodian handled German property during the war. Papers relating to German seizures of American property are marked "By reprisal."

Not only is the restoration of monies and securities to Americans held up pending completion of peace arrangements, but so is the settlement of affairs of 186 American-owned concerns in Germany.

These concerns the Germans administered compulsorily during the war. In some instances there are profits waiting for the American owners. In other instances goods made in these plants are being used now to fight American foreign trade.

Springfield, Ill.—Len Small, indicted governor of Illinois will go before the people for vindication of charges of embezzlement, his friends indicated Thursday in saying he would run again for the office of chief executive.

The governor addressed the state fair Tuesday and said the indictments were the work of his enemies.

GERMANS PUT SIGNATURE ON PEACE TREATY

Peace Is Restored With Signing of Document in Berlin This Afternoon.

BITTER ENDERS WINNERS

Germany Concedes Nearly Every Point Demanded by United States.

By Carl D. Groat

Berlin.—The German-American peace treaty was signed here at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The signing of the treaty Thursday put an end to the state of war which has existed between the United States and Germany since April 6, 1917.

Signatures were affixed to the document by Ellis Dresel, American commissioner, on behalf of the United States and representatives of the German government.

The treaty which was signed Thursday has been under consideration for some time. The terms were to be made public immediately and were said to be substantially those of the Knox-Porter peace resolution.

The treaty will be presented to the reichstag and the United States senate for ratification.

Washington.—The "irreconcilable" group in the United States, original foes of the Versailles treaty, have won a complete victory. Official announcements at the White House that a separate peace with Germany had been negotiated and conferences between President Harding and Republican members of the senate foreign relations committee yielded the information that at least a substitute for the peace treaty negotiated by President Wilson had been agreed upon between Germany and the United States.

Germany Gives In

The new treaty is brief and ingeniously worded. Germany conceded practically every point. She gave the United States all the rights which were given to other countries under the Versailles treaty. In effect the new treaty does the following things:

1. Establishes peace between the United States and Germany as soon as the pact is ratified by the United States senate, and the German reichstag.
2. It grants to the United States all the rights which were given other powers under the Versailles treaty.
3. It makes possible the negotiation in the future of new commercial treaties.
4. It contemplates the resumption of diplomatic relations as soon as the ratifications are exchanged.
5. It makes possible the issuance of

Swindle Ring Uncovered In Time To Prevent Panic

Financial Operations of Outlaws Has Mounted to $50,000,000, Probers Say.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Ill.—Unmasking of the alleged plot of Charles W. French and his confederates to line the vaults of the nation's banks with bogus securities narrowly averted a panic, Assistant District Attorney John C. Cline announced today.

Examination of papers seized in the Milwaukee apartment of Alva Harshman, French's secretary, who has confessed, revealed three million dollars worth of notes and securities.

Arrest of Z. W. Davis, former millionaire of Canton and Cleveland, Ohio, was ordered following a conference between Harshman and Cline. Harshman's cache showed $500,000 worth of notes signed by Davis; and $2,500,000 in notes signed by Harshman and indorsed by the Development Securities company, of which French was head.

"We interrupted French just in time to prevent a panic among many banks and more than forty industrial concerns," said Cline.

"French's plan of lining the vaults of banks with worthless securities would have rocked the financial world and toppled industry."

The alleged outlaw financial operations mounted to $50,000,000 Thursday as safety deposit vaults over the country were pried open.

Members of the gang of "bank wreckers" rushed to Assistant District Attorney Cline with confessions of their part in the French syndicate in

The Minneapolis company was ordered to sell four tickets for 25 cents, equivalent to a 6 cent fare.

Sick Can't Have Beer For Medicine--Mellon

FIRE THREATENED BODIES OF YANKS

By United Press Leased Wire

Hoboken, N. J.—An army court convened Thursday to determine responsibility for a $10,000 fire which last night destroyed the transport headquarters here.

Two of the army's three piers were burned to the water's edge and the third was left blackened and shaky where flames had eaten at the structure.

The giant liner Levithian, warped between two of the piers escaped with comparatively light damage, amounting to perhaps $100,000.

At one time five thousand bodies of American soldiers, just returned from France were threatened with cremation.

Secretary of Treasury Will Refuse to Issue Beer Regulations Until After Congress Has Acted on Bill.

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon Thursday announced that regulations allowing the sale of medicinal beer will not be issued until congress has taken definite action on the anti-beer bill.

Mellon's statement virtually ends the hope that the prescription of beer as medicine will ever be allowed. It is regarded as certain that the anti-beer bill can be pushed through congress within two months and Mellon's statement was taken to mean he proposes to hold up the regulations until that time.

"The treasury takes the attitude," Mellon said, "that it would be improper to issue the regulations while the bill is pending in the senate." It was pointed out that congressional opposition to the bill was not based on the ban against beer, but alleged illegal seizures and seizures. The beer regulations now have been delayed nearly five months since the ruling of former Attorney General Palmer that the Volstead law does not prohibit the prescription of beer as medicine.

Drys hailed Mellon's announcement as a signal victory.

Wets declared Mellon was exceeding his authority in refusing to allow the sale of medicinal beer.

Under regulations that have been drawn on the basis of the ruling of the Volstead law does not prohibit medicinal beer, a sick man may obtain 4½ gallons each month.

When the beer bill would be passed is now uncertain. A long fight is still ahead of it when congress comes back from its vacation on September 21. Tax and tariff revision then will have the right of way.

Meanwhile, advocates of the Stanley search and seizure act are planning an active campaign during the recess to convince the country that prohibition agents are disregarding the constitution.

CHARGE SHERIFF IS LAX WHEN PRISONERS ESCAPE

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison, Wis.—Gov. John J. Blaine fixed September 6 as the date on which he will hear a complaint filed against Sheriff George Garman of Eau Claire county, charging that he failed in his duty in allowing a jail delivery of two bank robbers.

The petition lodged against Sheriff Garman was submitted by a number of Eau Claire citizens. They demand an investigation and the removal of Garman.

The two bandits that saved their way out of the country jail were involved in the Augusta State bank on the night of May 1. The men were registered under the names of Gus Saunders and Stanley Russell.

Identification of the victim was fixed by letters found in his pockets. One letter was addressed to "W. P. Harrison" and another to "Harrison and Jones," both in Indianapolis. The man's cap bore an Indianapolis trademark.

The woman in the case was also said to be from Indianapolis.

Bigamist Had Both Wives In Mind At Death

By United Press Leased Wire

South Bend, Ind.—Frank E. Bortell, of South Bend and New York, whose double life was exposed upon his death, thought of his lawful wife here in South Bend with concern the day before he died.

Bortell, whose death revealed that he has been living four years with a woman in New York although making frequent visits to his lawful wife here sent a telegram here just before he died expressing solicitude to his wife's health and saying he would come if needed.

When she received news of her husband's death from heart failure, Mrs. Bortell of South Bend, was in ill health. She suffered a nervous collapse when she went to New York to claim the body and found another woman there before her.

Bortell visited South Bend a month ago and bought his wife a full length seal skin coat. Last Christmas he bought her an automobile. Every Sunday she received a special delivery letter from him. Bortell with his New York mate, had made a success on Broadway as the organizer of a freight bureau.

Mrs. Bortell of South Bend still is in serious condition as the result of the shock of learning of her husband's dual life of the last four years.

ANOTHER AIRSHIP IS SOUGHT BY NAVY

Washington, D. C.—The future of American naval aviation may be determined in part by the explosion that destroyed the ZR-2.

Navy officials are planning to ask congress for funds to replace the destroyed aircraft as soon as they have made a thorough investigation in the causes of the accident over Hull, England, yesterday. They also say they will go ahead with the construction of the ZR-1, similar to the ZR-2, which is being built near Lakehurst, N. J.

Members of the house and senate naval affairs committees, however, said they believed no further funds for dirigible construction should be granted now and that the work on the ZR-1 would be held up, if not dropped altogether.

Navy officials Thursday declared this country can now make airships as well as the British and that the American product will be infinitely safer because helium instead of hydrogen will be used as the lifting agent.

Although they were without specific reports, naval officers believe the ZR-2 broke and then the highly explosive hydrogen let go. With helium the broken airship would have dropped to the ground but the passengers would have had time to use their parachutes, officers said.

Congressmen say, however, that they doubt the feasibility of the big dirigible as a war machine.

Already appropriations totaling $3,000,000 have been made for the ZR-1, but contracts calling for expenditure of only $1,300,000 have been signed. The huge hangars at Lakehurst for the two ships have been completed at a cost of about $3,000,000.

ASK FOR TROOPS TO FIGHT 5,000 VIRGINIA MINERS

West Virginia Governor Appeals for Help as "Army" Nears Coal Fields.

By United Press Leased Wire

Racine, W. Va.—Apparently ignoring reports that they would be met with resistance at the Logan county line by armed citizens, the "army" of miners, estimated between 5,000 and 7,000, straggled through here Thursday on their march to Mingo.

Practically all were armed. A steady stream of men has passed through the town since early morning. They traveled along the main highway that runs from Charleston to Williamson, Mingo county.

Washington.—An emergency appeal to the war department for 1,000 federal soldiers, to keep 5,000 armed coal miners from entering the Mingo and Logan county, West Virginia coal fields, was made Thursday by Governor Morgan, West Virginia.

Morgan warned that 5,000 men are gathered at Marmet, W. Va., 13 miles from Charleston and that they are moving on the coal fields in the two counties.

"The miners' army is equipped with rifles, revolvers and machine guns, the governor said.

Stores have been robbed, officers have been disarmed, telephone lines torn down and telephone repairmen fired upon and trains have been commandeered to carry many of the miners, the governor said.

He declared that the state cannot cope with the situation. The legislature being out of session, the governor said he found himself powerless to concentrate the number of men required to restore and maintain order.

Troops Are Ready

Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright said that orders had gone to the Fifth army corps headquarters at Indianapolis to have troops in readiness to respond to an order from the president to take charge of the disturbed area in case federal intervention is decided upon.

Wainwright immediately placed Morgan's appeal before President Harding. A proclamation of martial law is necessary before federal troops move.

It was indicated at the White House that unless actual warfare began in the coal fields within a few hours, no action on Governor Morgan's request for federal troops would be taken until reports had been received from army investigators.

The war department is said to decide federal intervention only as a last resort.

POSTAL OFFICERS SEEK LOST MAIL POUCH AT NEENAH

Sack of First Class Mail Dispatched From Appleton Has Disappeared.

By United Press Leased Wire

Neenah, Wis.—Postal inspectors Thursday were investigating the mysterious disappearance of a pouch of first class mail being transferred from the Northwestern road to the Soo line station here.

The pouch contained first class mail from Appleton to western points. The pouch disappeared from a truck.

Postmaster Gustave Keller said Thursday morning that the missing pouch did not contain any registered mail. It was filled with ordinary first class matter.

It was explained that a pouch of first class mail is sent out every night on the Northwestern train leaving here at 9:30 and is transferred from the Northwestern depot at Neenah to the Soo line. Two or three days ago postal officials at Neenah announced that the pouch had been lost and a postal inspector was assigned to the hunt. Records here show that the pouch was dispatched from the Appleton postoffice.

DRAW RIVER FOR BODIES

Twelve American Dead Have Been Recovered—Eye Witness Tells Story.

By United Press Leased Wire

Hull, Eng.—Request that the United States battleship Utah come here to take home the bodies of the 16 American officers and men who lost their lives when the ZR-2 fell, a flaming mass of tangled wreckage into the Humber river, was made Thursday afternoon by American naval officers who are conducting an official probe into the disaster—the greatest in the history of the air.

It was learned that many of the 43 men aboard who were blown to pieces by the explosion, or burnt to death, were asleep in their bunks when the accident occurred.

The official inquiry has established the fact that Commander Wann steered his ship away from the city of Hull and over the river when he first felt the cracking of the girders to avert a disaster which would have been ever more terrible.

The Utah is equipped with coffins, the American officers said, but if she is unable to come here in time to carry home the bodies, they asked that destroyers be sent from the Black sea.

By Charles M. McCann

Hull, England.—The most graphic stories of the greatest disaster in the history of the air when the ZR-2, world's largest dirigible exploded, burst in two and fell flaming into the river Humber, carrying 16 Americans and 27 British to their deaths, were told the United Press Thursday by Flight Lieutenant A. H. Wann, commander of the ship and Norman O. Walker, the only American saved.

"The whole thing happened in five seconds," Flight Lieutenant Wann, lying in Hull hospital said.

"My ship was running beautifully at 60 knots as we swung over the city of Hull. Our tests were nearly finished. We hoped to be down soon."

"I had just signalled that the speed

Howden, England.—"The ship's back is broken. We are adrift and falling. We—"

This was the last message sent out by the ZR-2 whose wireless officer, Lieut. V. H. Wicks, remained gallantly at his post to the last moment, communicating with the airbase here.

Although facing certain death, Lieut. Wicks stuck to his post. It was believed here, from the fact that his message was broken in the middle.

he reduced to 50 knots when suddenly I heard a terrific crash. I believe that several girders must have broken. The ship buckled and the explosion followed.

"The cause of the explosion probably will never be known," the commander said.

"I was in sole control of the ZR-2 when the disaster occurred," Lieut. Wann continued. "I felt the forward car from which I was commanding the ship, falling swiftly through the air, immediately after the loud crack amidships."

"Then it roared sharply at a high angle.

"I pulled the water ballast for the purpose of levelling the keel.

"Suddenly there was a terrific explosion which I felt and heard in the forward car. I think many men were killed outright by the blast for they would have been inside the envelope amidships."

Jump To Escape Fire

"Some of the crew and officers jumped when the ship caught fire. I remain on board until we were close to the water. Then I jumped but was caught in the wreckage and pinned down for fifteen minutes. The flaming pieces of the ZR-2 fell out about 100 and I was burned about the head and face. I lost consciousness and when I woke up I was in the hospital."

Norman O. Walker, of Commerce, Texas, the only American saved told the United Press Thursday:

"No one will ever have a clear idea of just what happened. I was with two Britishers at the extreme tail of the ZR-2. When the explosion shook the airship and she broke in two, our half fell tail downward."

"The three of us hung on and we floated down toward mid river, almost like a big bird settling on to the water. I was almost like having a parachute."

"I looked down and saw the water rushing up at us, and when we were about thirty feet from the surface, I let go and dropped. I thought I would never come up, but when I did, there were tugs and boats already speeding to rescue me. The airship could scarcely have been in the water thirty seconds before they were on the job."

Thousands were gathered on the river front at dawn Thursday, watching the search for bodies of the victims. The ZR-2 was now invisible, both

80 AUTO LOADS OF BOOSTERS AT SEYMOUR'S FAIR

Appleton Will Be Well Represented at Closing Day of Exposition.

Sixty auto loads of Appleton people formed the cavalcade which left Appleton about 12:30 Thursday noon to participate in the "Appleton day" event on the last day of the Seymour fair. Other automobiles left later in the afternoon and it is estimated that at least 500 people represented Appleton on the fair grounds Thursday afternoon.

Hat bands and auto banners bearing the words "You'll Like Appleton," were conspicuously displayed by the party. A large number of young people planned to attend the night fair, Thursday, being unable to participate in the afternoon event.

A fair sized crowd was entertained continuously with a variety of amusements and stunts on Wednesday. There were only a few Appleton people in attendance.

One of the interesting features was a group of Oneida Indians. The Indian baseball team was defeated by the Duck Creek aggregation. Acrobatic stunts were presented almost all day.

Visitors were surprised to find the dining hall was not used this day and they were all forced to eat "hot dogs" or go to a "regular hotel." This latter course was not very popular, however, for it meant standing in line for two long hours.

The Red Cross tent maintained for women and children was an attractive haven for those wearied from sight seeing. Free drinking water was one of the chief charms.

Music was furnished by the Hortonsville and Seymour bands and by the Boy Scout drum corps.

The cattle exhibit was said to be the best although the farm produce and other exhibits also were very good.

Direct Chimes owned by W. A. Greenwood of Oconto won the 220 pace in the races. Second place was won by Press Five owned by George Lawler of Green Bay and third by Deimos M., owned by F. J. Greenwood of Green Bay. The best time was 2:19.4.

Bingo Direct, owned by George Lawler of Green Bay took first in the 2:32 trot, time 2:20. Second place was won by Tentmaker, owned by August Spitzer of Luxemburg and third by Creator owned by Otto Boness of Luxemburg.

Edna Wood, owned by A. E. Hutto of Green Bay, won the 2:30 pace in 2:23 and last year. Second place was won by Don Zwick owned by F. J. Greenwood of Green Bay and third by The Diamond owned by J. S. Buckingham of Menominee.

Appletonians Beginning To Appreciate Alicia Park

Picnic Parties Are Becoming Popular at City's Tourist Camp.

The attractiveness of Alicia park is becoming known to home people as well as to tourists from all over the country. Not until it was opened as a camping ground had it become popular as a recreation spot for Appleton people who now make daily use of it. Many people visit the park in afternoons, taking their suppers with them. Several private picnics are held each week and the bathing facilities offered are becoming more popular as the season advances.

While very little money has been spent on the park this season numerous changes have been made by Capt. George Merkel, who is in charge, to add to its beauty. The fence and many of the stumps have been removed and depressions leveled and grounds thoroughly cleaned. Benches and tables have been added and a new entrance is now being made from Outagamie-st. Police and electric lights have been installed and an artesian well furnishes abundant water.

At first tourists were permitted to pitch their tents on the bank of the river but as their fires destroyed the grass, quarters for their tents were provided for them at the north end of the park. The plan next year is to divide a portion of the northwest part of the park into sections and provide each section with a brick fireplace where the tourists can prepare their meals, and to provide a building for the preparation of meals in the event of wet weather.

Tourists are still enthusiastic over the beauty of the place which they claim is equalled nowhere else in the state. Up to date 250 camping parties from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts have used the grounds and gone their way as boosters for the city. Capt. Merkel has a register where they enroll their names together with their place of residence and their destination. Several have registered from New England and the middle Atlantic states, from the southern states, Pacific coast states and from Canada. The majority of those from neighboring states have no destination further than "touring the state."

Practically all the parties carry tents and equipment for the preparation of meals. Capt. Merkel recalled one party from Iowa that had no tent and made a practice of sleeping on the ground wrapped in blankets. A large road map of Wisconsin on the outside of Capt. Merkel's cottage is consulted daily by the tourists and the officer is frequently consulted as to the best route to take in reaching a certain distant point.

who were watching were horrified with horror.

"Then two terrific explosions rent the airship still further.

"Fragments of the framework, men and all details of the interior mechanism of the great ship fell in a terrible shower. Out through the great gap in the hull they shot, turning and twisting in the air, striking the water with terrific force.

"Then the airship split in halves, separating, each half drifting, hanging nose upward, while I could see the gaping black interior, still spilling men and loose parts.

"A terrible crash as the petrol tanks hit the water and exploded added to the horror of the scene and the surface of the Humber was covered with a fume laden liquid which instantly took fire. The whole river at that point was a blaze of flame.

"Meanwhile, the hull and doomed slowly down and struck the river farther east, just clearing the flaming oil, which was rapidly spreading."

Reconstructing statements of eye witnesses it seems clear that the hull first began to buckle ominously about midships as the ship turned over the river and some air officers encountered a sudden air pocket which cracked the hull by subjecting it to a sudden twist.

The force of the explosion, when the ZR-2 burst in midair was felt for 25 miles. Thousands of pounds of damage was done in Hull by the breaking of windows.

British and American naval officers conferred here Thursday as to the best means of salvaging the debris of the rear portion of the ZR-2, which fell in the mud and was submerged by high tide.

Experts today said they believed the buckling occurred in the rear of No. 10 frame where the ZR-2 buckled five weeks ago. The buckling of the ship at this point would have caused the bursting of petrol pipes, naval oil fields said.

Petrol, leading down upon the engines of the control car, would have burst into flames and an instant later the petrol tanks in the car would have exploded.

This theory of the accident was considered the most plausible by experts, especially as the control was known to have been wrecked.

A graphic eye witness story of the disaster was given to the United Press Thursday by David Philson, who photographed the debris immediately after the explosion and crash.

"I was standing at the quayside," Philson said. "The airship had just emerged from behind some fleecy clouds and was outlined against the clear blue sky.

"Suddenly a wrinkle appeared about the middle of the airship's back, like a frown in a forehead.

"It deepened and others followed and for two or three seconds they grew more pronounced. All of a sudden the whole structure lurched and sagged in the middle.

GERMANY AND U. S. SIGN PEACE TREATY

war legislation in which the phrases "a peace proclamation terminating all 'duration of the war' or 'until after peace shall have been proclaimed' were used. These laws have been a source of much discussion and legal dispute. The "irreconcilables" are happy for they have brought to their ranks not only a majority of the senate but the executive branch of the government including men like Secretary Hughes who originally favored the Versailles treaty with reservations. Senator Lodge, who drew up a set of reservations to the Versailles treaty has agreed to the abandonment of that document and is in favor of the new peace treaty.

Complete Victory
Senator Knox, who wrote the peace resolution of congress, is pleased because the new treaty follows almost exactly the purposes of that resolution. The "irreconcilables" set out to defeat the League of Nations, to see to it that the United States assumed no political obligations in any treaty, to make a separate peace with Germany and to see that America's economic rights growing out of the European war were safeguarded.

All these points in the program of the "irreconcilables" have been absolutely won by them. The new treaty ignores the League of Nations. It doesn't involve the United States in any assumption of political obligations or responsibilities in European affairs. It confirms the congressional resolution declaring peace. It safeguards America's economic rights in all the territories given either through mandates or cessions to the victorious powers in the European war. It affords the basis for claims of equal commercial opportunity in all regions and in other areas where valuable resources may be found.

Senate Will Accept It
The new treaty will go through the senate without much opposition. The Democrats are not strong enough to prevent its passage. The Democrats have a membership of only slightly more than one-third of the senate and there are at least a half dozen Democrats who will vote with the Republicans to make the necessary two-thirds.

The question is being asked how it is that the United States can obtain rights under the Versailles treaty which it doesn't consider valid because it failed of ratification. But the truth is the United States has just made what amounts to a "favored nation" treaty. It has been customary for governments in making treaties with each other to obtain all the rights or special privileges in commerce which were being granted to other powers. Thus Germany gave the allies certain economic rights. She gives America the same rights by a sweeping assertion that the same privileges as were granted to other countries in the Versailles pact now are granted to the American government. The Versailles treaty is recognized as in existence between Germany and European powers just as it would be if it had never been offered to America for signature.

PADEREWSKI FEARS SILESIA MAY START NEW EUROPEAN WAR

Famous Pianist Soon Will Return to Europe to Help Native Land.

Special to the Post-Crescent
Paso Robles, Calif.—"A torch that may start another world conflagration."

Thus Paderewski describes Upper Silesia.

The world's greatest pianist who sacrificed his art and most of his fortune on the altar of patriotism, is preparing to sell his wonderful ranch in California.

In the vicinity of Paso Robles, a great almond-growing country, Paderewski owns 2,544 acres of choice orchard land. Within a few weeks all but 320 acres of Rancho San Ignacio will be sold at public auction. The 320 acres is in Madame Paderewski's name and will be retained for a time.

Back to Europe
Following the sale, in a few months, the Paderewskis plan to sail for Switzerland. Later they may return to Poland, but when is not decided.

Every day Paderewski practices at his piano for an hour. But this is behind tightly closed doors. Only Madame Paderewski is permitted to hear the master who once thrilled countless thousands.

Paderewski has no intention of playing in public again. A great artist must put his heart and soul into his art. Paderewski feels he cannot do this because of his intense interest in the affairs of his native Poland.

"One cannot play the piano and politics together," says Madame Paderewski. "My husband never will go back to the music. There is too much else to do."

The man who threw his all into Poland's centuries-long fight for diplomacy won so much for the Poles at the Peace Conference, and who became Poland's first premier, is deeply concerned for his country's safety.

He inclines to the belief that another Bolshevik invasion of Poland is inevitable, unless the present famine causes the overthrow of the soviet government.

Poland is not seeking land, says Paderewski. The Polish people want justice—the justice which the treaty of Versailles intended to give them—and they will not be satisfied until they get it.

Paragraph 55 of the treaty gave Germany an advantage that the former premier does not believe was intended.

"Under this paragraph," he explains, "any person born in Upper Silesia, whether a resident of the district at the time or not, was entitled to vote at the plebiscite."

"Taking advantage of this paragraph, 200,000 German subjects crossed into Upper Silesia to vote."

"Certain districts, known to be made up almost entirely of German population, also were included in the plebiscite area."

"All this contributed heavily to the German victory."

Paderewski believes that the injury done Poland through paragraph 55 of the treaty of Versailles has been forcefully brought to the attention of the supreme council and the matter will be straightened out in the near future.

C. P. Riggs Is Enjoying Life In 95th Year

Charles P. Riggs, 757 Morrison-st., one of Appleton's earliest pioneers, celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary Wednesday. He took a day off from his duties at the Appleton Woolen mills, where he very seldom misses a day, and spent the morning hours quietly at home.

In company with Mrs. Riggs and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Colver he visited the home of Miss Frank Bailey, Lawrence-st., at noon, where he was invited for dinner and where he spent the greater part of the afternoon.

Mr. Riggs was born near Portland, Me., and left his native state for Wisconsin May 1, 1831. He went to Boston by boat and from there to Schenectady, N. Y., where he took a boat up the Erie Canal to Buffalo. From there he took a lake steamer to Green Bay, where he landed May 15, 1851. He remained at Green Bay until June 15, 1851, when he came to Appleton and has resided here continuously ever since.

CHASING GHOSTS IS WASTING TAX MONEY

By Norris Quinn
Special to the Post-Crescent
Washington—Chasing ghosts occupies the attention of more than 40 ships our government is maintaining in the Atlantic and Pacific.

This is another way in which government funds are wasted.

These ghost chasers are technically known as revenue cruisers. Most of them are naval cruisers of obsolete type.

Year in, year out, they cruise up and down both coasts in search of the ghosts of smugglers and buccanniers who used to sail the Spanish Main.

The true purpose of the revenue cruisers is to run down real smugglers. But they disappeared from the coast decades ago.

Today smugglers wear silk hats and bring contraband into the United States by way of the big liners that dock at New York, Seattle and San Francisco.

So the original purpose of the revenue cruiser has vanished.

Some Useful Work
The cruisers are manned by competent officers and crews and do much useful work.

At certain seasons they cruise in the northern seas, watching for icebergs, protecting the big liners from possible collisions.

They answer all emergency radio calls, rushing to the aid of disabled or burning ships. They patrol the fishing zones in the Bering Sea. And they look out for rum runners.

But every function performed by the cruiser can be better performed by a regular navy destroyer.

The average type of revenue cruiser has a maximum speed of 12 knots while the navy destroyer can do twice that.

The revenue cruiser service maintains a training school for officers at New London, Conn. That school graduates 14 officers every year. It costs the taxpayers $250,000 a year for upkeep—nearly $20,000 for each man graduated.

Run by Treasury
The service is controlled by the coast guard, with which it has a rather slight connection. The coast guard, in turn, is controlled by the treasury department, with which it has not the slightest relationship.

Economy experts here will propose these measures to eliminate revenue cruiser waste:

ONE. Abolish the revenue cruisers.

TWO. Place patrolling, iceburg-seeking, answering distress signals and similar functions under the navy department's supervision.

THREE. Abolish the revenue cruiser officers' academy.

LILY HAD HER FILL OF REAL CAVEMEN

By Milton Bronner.
(Special to Post-Crescent.)
London—Pro and con discussions over cave-men husbands are stirring England.

They started when a beautiful young screen star confided to British newspapermen that she liked a man to "be a regular guy" who said "yes" and "no" and meant it. The good old cave man type would make a proper husband, she said.

That's the pro side.

Lily St. John, one of England's most winsome actresses, says the cave man husband idea is con. She swore to that, in court, about the same time the screen beauty was advocating the "treat 'em rough" type.

Lily, the sweetheart of London, in 1918 married Major Trygve Gran, a member of Scott's South Pole expedition and in command of an airplane fleet in the war. He was an ideal husband-hero.

Lily got a divorce.

Cave men? They're the bunk. Ask Lily.

"HIS MAJESTY" ADDICTION NOT DISCARDED
The deaf and dumb medicant's system of begging with a printed card and a pair of hungry, glowing eyes has been reversed by the well-known woodchopper of Holland. This common laborer has been besieged by former subjects with so many calls for money and help, that he has had the following letter printed and circulated: "In view of the high cost of living in Holland it is barely possible to meet necessary expenses with German currency. His majesty is unfortunately unable to grant the desired financial aid." As the doughboy would say, "Where does he get that 'his majesty' stuff?" And as the more inquisitive would like to know, where does he get the German currency from?

The people of Germany cannot afford to keep on passively recognizing the obsolete theory of the divine right of the royal family, or paying tacit tribute to respectability and nobility which rest on the myth of genealogical superiority. They should rid themselves charitably, yet firmly, of him and whatever claims he may imagine he has by liquidating his endowment policy in full, and tapping their temples with forefinger when they hear "his majesty" uttered. Imperialism has been moribund for two years in Germany. The republic is two years old, and it is quite strong and healthy, and is able to grow and thrive without the overbearing pedagogy of a so-called royal line. The Germans are a great people, and their aptitude and talent for organization and mass action should assure to them permanent and successful republicanism. And the Germans relish old jokes, as well as good beer.

POWER OF THE DAILY NEWSPAPER
One person in every three and one-fifths persons is a regular daily newspaper subscriber, according to the census bureau statistics. This is a mathematical way of implying that the reading public of the daily press is one hundred per cent of the population. To prove this inference it suffices to conclude spontaneously that, if a daily newspaper is published for one of every three and one-fifth persons, virtually all of the non-subscribers also read it, or to illustrate it a little differently, one daily paper is published for every home.

From the foregoing impressive statistics it is simple and easy to understand why advertising, totaling $407,760,301 for 1919, increased 121.5 per cent above the 1914 aggregate. It must pay to advertise when the 2,433 dailies of the United States circulate more than 32,735,937 copies every day.

The daily newspaper is as indispensable a public utility as drinking water, fuel and telephone and street car service. It is a business and social necessity, purveying all the information, as well as all the news, which men and women have found by experience to be requisite. Not only modern commerce, whose ramifications are world-wide, but modern life in all its phases, absolutely needs the daily press. Peace, prosperity, enlightenment and progress could not be maintained without the daily newspaper—watching, hearing, speaking, thinking and acting for the public.

Production, distribution and consumption are held to be the chain of operations which supports commerce. There is another factor of equal importance which is oftentimes overlooked or underestimated because it is so extensive and intensive as to seem commonplace, and it is this communication, the heart and mind of which is the daily press, entering every home and every business office by special and most enthusiastic invitation.

MUST WE HEAR ABOUT WILHELM AGAIN?
Horatio Bottomly told the English house of commons, the other day, that Holland should be called on to surrender the former contender for the world's champion ship, Kaiser Wilhelm—pardon us, William Hohenzollern. If the present government, Bottomly declared, could not handle the subject, "it should make way for men of sterner stuff."

What should be done with Wilhelm is a bothersome question chiefly because the world is reminded of his existence too often. So far he has been about as much of a disturbance as any simple person of the cap and bells. He is scarcely important enough to be exiled on a guarded island, like Napoleon. He does not appear dangerous enough to lock-up. The German republic seems to like him better in Holland than in the Fatherland. And any nation which would acquire him would have to pay his board and give him spending money. However, come to think of it, Bottomly has not been in the limelight for some time.

THE SPACIOUS REALM OF THE IMAGINATION

The surprising deductions of Sherlock Holmes—who is still living, if Canon Doyle has not left him out in a bysml canon, are commonplace in comparison with the day dream rambles of serious-minded scientists. A small and strange ideas on long and wonderful flights in the spacious realm of the flexible and scintillating imagination.

A scientific report has just been published on the "American marsupial caenolestes." The animal, which is six inches long, and resembles a sharp-nosed rat, was caught in Venezuela nine years ago, and it is described as a "mirror of the past." It is said to be unlike any now living in the world, and that its extinct relatives lived in the miocene period, three million years ago.

This family survived, according to the deductions, because its members were small and led simple lives. Caenolestes, it is deduced, belongs to one of the groups which perished ages ago, because its bones and teeth are the same as those of the extinct animals. It is deduced that the faces of the caenolestes were the same three million years ago as now.

As the nearest living relatives are the Australian bandicoots, the deductive process follows on to the theory as to whether a land-bridge connected South America and Australia, and further questionable deduction is whether the animal migrated from Australia to South America on the land-bridge, or vice versa, or whether, perhaps, it originated in a southern continent, which vanished long ago, and from there traveled to South America and Australia.

Possibly all of these deductions rest on scientific terra firma. Possibly the conjectures are more logical than fanciful. Yet there are many well-established truths which scientists will not accept, which they even ridicule. The unsentimental mind finds it difficult to trail caenolestes back three million years, and over the great land-bridge, or down the vanished southern continent of anarctic cold.

TODAY'S POEM
By Bertion Bralley

THE REAL PURPOSE.

The lovers are walking two by two
In the beautiful moonlight night,
A thing that lovers are prone to do
Whenever the moon is bright.
And even when moonlight isn't there,
The lovers go walking, pair by pair.

The lovers are walking arm in arm,
And who in the world arn't blame?
For youth and love add a tender charm
To all of life's dull old game.
So, arm in arm or hand in hand,
The lovers go walking through the land.

The lovers are sitting side by side,
Wherever they find a nook,
In city parks, by the ocean beach,
Or the bank of a babbling brook,
And they're saying the same old things, no doubt,
That lovers ever have talked about.

Oh, the lovers stroll in the summer eve,
And the lovers clasp and kiss,
And it seems that truly they all believe
That the world was made for this.
(And, bringing my wisest thoughts to aid,
I think, it is why the world was made!)

BEAVERS' REMARKABLE WORK.

A single colony of beaver are capable of constructing a dam 12 feet high and a quarter of a mile long. Such a dam was recently discovered by a state game warden, in a secluded spot along Taylor's creek, Bayfield county, Wisconsin. The beaver house at the center of the dam, 16 feet high and 40 feet broad at the base, the sleeping apartment inside the house, was exceptionally spacious for a beaver home, being large enough for a tall man to lie down at full length. The floor was found to be covered with a dry substance and was as clean as a whistle. Large quantities of food were found stored for cold weather use. Nine beavers, the parents and their children, were found living comfortably in the house, the result of their engineering feat.

AMERICA LAND OF TOBACCO.

America is still the greatest producer of tobacco and also the greatest consumer of it, the greatest exporter and greatest importer, too. She keeps her association with it which began with the discovery of the new world. It was the riches of tobacco as well as gold and fountains of youth that drew hither the adventurers who peopled the new continents. Later tobacco was so precious a thing among the first English colonists, that they plowed up the streets of Jamestown to plant it.

RUNNING EARS.

The amount and character of the discharge from the ear vary widely. The younger the patient, the greater the quantity of matter discharged from a diseased ear. The discharge seems with disease germs often several varieties of disease producing germs being present in a chronic case. The common pus producing germs are invariably present. In many cases in children the cause of the middle ear disease is tuberculosis, and the tubercle bacillus may be found in the discharge in the earlier weeks of the trouble, but later on only the pus producing germs can be isolated, the tubercle bacilli remaining within the affected bone or mucous membrane.

Fungus thrive on the debris of a running ear, and these parasites impart a peculiar musty, disagreeable odor to the discharge. Of course, a certain amount of the discharge finds its way down the Eustachian tube to the nose and throat. Sometimes the discharge from a diseased middle ear drains wholly into the throat and is swallowed, as often occurs in babies and young children. Constant swallowing and absorption of such septic matter gives the patient a salivary complexion, general headache, poor appetite, sometimes nausea, sometimes diarrhea.

In certain cases the ear runs only when the patient's health is below par, and ceases to discharge when the patient is in good condition. In others, the patient gets along fairly well for years while the discharge continues without interruption; finally the discharge suddenly decreases or almost stops, and some serious complication develops, like mastoiditis, brain abscess, meningitis or septic sinus thrombosis, and a difficult operation may or may not save life.

It is one of the most vicious superstitions that it is a dangerous thing to have a running ear treated. Running ear is a signal of danger which remains until the trouble is entirely cured.

Generally slight discharge is more to be feared than a copious one, because it is more likely to be neglected.

In some instances only a few drops of matter will drain from the middle ear each day, and this spreads out in fanlike form over the roof of the ear canal and dries up and might easily be mistaken for dried earwax there.

An ear discharge that is thin and malodorous comes from disintegrated bone, and is a warning of destruction of hearing. Polyp or granulations (proud flesh) in the ear would also indicate diseased bone.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
HIVES AND HOW TO UNHIVE 'EM.
Question—Kindly tell us the cause of hives and a good remedy for same, external or internal. (E. S.)

Answer—The cause is protein poisoning, which may come from so many different sources that we cannot list them here. Alkalies internally are helpful, such as a bottle of magnesium citrate solution (Liquor Magnesia Citratis, U. S. P.) or half tea-spoonful of water every four hours. Externally, the best general application I can suggest is the well known calamine lotion, in which perhaps from 14% to 16% phenol is dissolved.

The Eternal Budding.
Question—I am 15 years old and weigh 125 pounds. Am 62 inches tall. Am I too stout for my age and height? Would running for a long distance every night and morning reduce my weight? How much should a girl of my age and height weigh? A girl of 20 who is 63 inches tall? What makes the eyes large and bright? (Marian)
Answer—Well, Marian, you are a wee bit heavier than the average girl of your age and height. Running would tend to reduce your weight if you do not overeat. A girl of your age and height should weigh about 115 to 120 pounds. You are not stout, except to worry about. A girl 20 years old, 63 inches tall, should weigh from 120 to 125 pounds. Regular hours of work, play and sleep, deep breathing, good posture and the avoidance of cool clothes, cool beauty soap and cool habits in general will keep the eyes bright and large, that is to say, strong and well.

CHINESE TEA MYTH.

An interesting myth has been woven about the 5 "clerk" tea." According to a Chinese legend, tea was discovered by a son of an Indian king, Dharma, who in 519 A. D. paid a semi-religious visit to China. To prove his religious fervor, Dharma fasted on austere life and only vegetables and prayed constantly. He was so devoted to his duty that he might devote all his time to prayer, but one day, after many years, he was overcome with drowsiness and, against his will, slept. On awakening, he wept bitterly. To show his remorse he cut off his eyelids metamorphosed into two shrubs called "chaai," the Chinese for eyelids. The moral of this legend points out that Dharma chewed some of the shrubbery and learned its arousing properties. In 1629 the Chinese presented the "chaai" or "tea" leaves to the czar, and later they were introduced into London.

EXPLAINING THE "RING FINGER."

Of all the men, both young and old, who place engagement rings on the fingers of their brides-to-be, it is almost an absolute certainty that not one-tenth of them know why he places the ring on the ring finger of the left hand. Of course, the answer could be: "Everybody's doin' it." The custom of placing the ring upon the fourth finger seems undoubtedly to owe its origin to the fancy that a special nerve or vein ran directly from this finger to the heart. Macrobius, in his Saturnalia, alludes to the belief in the following words: "Because of this nerve, the newly betrothed places the ring on this finger of his spouse, as though it were a representation of the heart." This information, he asserts, was derived from an Egyptian priest.

Taxes And War
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington. — Must international war cease because the common man will no longer put up the money necessary to carry it on?
That is the real question which the Washington conference on disarmament and international finance will consider. There is some hope of results from this conference, because it approaches the question of war from a new angle.
There have been efforts to abolish war since before Christ, and all of them have failed completely. Rulers and men of wealth have always wanted wars in order to increase their power and wealth. Often most of the people want war too. A war may be a great national calamity, but it is also a great national emotional debauch and shake-up. Our participation in the World War was just that. Many were killed and maimed, but many others had a good time, or made money, or saw the world, or gained a new point of view. It is useless to pretend that wars are desired only by the men in power who make them. The excitement and change which they afford is often craved by the common man as well, even though he bears all the cost and takes all the risk.
But the cost and the risk are always becoming greater, and the excitement less. Our participation in the war was slight. We did not feel the full weight of it. The Europeans did. Burdened with taxes, most of their young men dead, the European peoples see themselves headed straight for more war. They know that they cannot pay the cost of more war either in life or in money.
That is the meaning of the disarmament conference. The political powers of the world have called it because they know there is a demand for it. They know that the common man, who does the fighting and pays the bills, is in a striking mood. The control of war has always been in his hands, and never could be in anyone else's. Any time that he refuses to fight there cannot be a war. Any time that he refuses to pay there cannot be a war. And he just now has his bit of both fighting and paying. Therefore the political and diplomatic gentlemen will meet here to decide among themselves just how much they must concede to this new mood of the common man. The result of the conference really depends upon him. He is public opinion. If public opinion remains steadily against high taxes and heavy armament, the politicians will have to make some concessions. But if public opinion gets excited about the national armaments which are stored when the Georges and Vivianis begin hurling defiance at each other, then the great disarmament conference will be one more Hague Tribunal, which accomplished no more for world peace than a sewing circle.

War Debt a Striking Figure
Statesmen of various nations from time to time have expressed the view that nothing would be accomplished toward universal peace until the nations of the world were too poor to support big armies and navies. That time has arrived now. When the delegations to the conference called by President Harding met in Washington in November, nations will be represented having an aggregate debt of $335,000,000,000. That debt will be the greatest figure at the conference table. As a matter of fact, some of the great military and naval powers of the earth are proceeding already on the assumption that the conference will succeed in its aims, and are cutting down or halting their military and naval programs. Reliable information has reached American officials that Japan has halted work on her new naval construction. Great Britain has reduced her force of marines from 87,000 to about 17,000 and reduced her naval personnel to 80,000. Other nations are following their examples to a greater or less extent.

Conferences on the subject have been under way in the United States since before the election last autumn. Roughly, the expected outcome of the conference may be set down, so far as America is concerned, from reliable official sources. American armaments are expected to be reduced to twelve first line battleships in full commission, three squadrons of four ships each, divided between the Atlantic and Pacific. No limitations will be placed upon coast defenses, which by their character cannot be used offensively. The standing army will be reduced to between 60,000 and 75,000 men. The other nations of the world will agree to reductions in the same proportion. There will be a strong and definite limitation of the numbers of aircraft each nation may construct. The use of deadly gases and submarines and their production will be rigidly prescribed.

It is the belief of the statesmen behind the move for limiting world armaments that the greatest security against future wars lies in holding down professional armies and navies to the point where no sudden and tremendous offensive can be launched in the future, such as Germany launched into Belgium in 1914. The time required for preparations for war after a break between nations will be counted upon to a large extent to allow the injured feelings of both to be smoothed down.

Many Efforts at Peace
The earliest effort at preserving peace recorded in history was made by the Amphictyonies more than five hundred years before Christ. In 1623 one Emeric Cruce, or de Lacroix, wrote the "Nouveau Cynece," proposing that the European world agree to the formation of a permanent corps of ambassadors which would make Venice its headquarters. The votes of these plenipotentiaries were to settle all international disputes and this plan formed the basis of many brought forward in the intervening years down to the present time. Hugh Grotius, the first great writer on international law, published a work in 1625 recommending the organization of Courts of Arbitration designed to constrain the national parties to a quarrel to agree to settlement.

The Duke of Sully in 1634 gave to the world the program for a long time attributed to King Henry IV of France, under the title of "The Great Design." It was proposed that all of Europe be divided into fifteen states making up one great Christian republic. War was to be prevented by a conclave of 40 delegates meeting annually in the most centrally located cities of the fifteen states in rotation. The philosopher Kant proposed a plan for perpetual peace in 1796, by the terms of which every nation would become republican in form, with a pooling of their military forces for the preservation of peace. William Jennings Bryan, while secretary of state, had a plan to direct military and naval appropriations in the United States to the construction of highways, with the idea that the United States, if invaded, would be defended by citizens armed with shotguns speeding over these roads in automobiles to the point of attack.

Ernest Landgrave, William Penn, John Bellers, Rousseau, Puffendorf, and others worked for world peace without success. The Hague Tribunals accomplished little. Germany in 1914 showed the futility of treaty agreements between nations, unless there is some great compelling economic force in the situation to make observance of the treaty expedient. Nervousness of the treaty seemed likely to bring about the accomplishment vainly striven for throughout the ages. Kings, philosophers, diplomats and demagogues all have failed to stop war, but when the common man says nay to the tax collector, then war will stop, for a while at least.

- Q. How far is it around the world by airplane? C. G.
A. The distance around the earth by airplane would differ according to latitude. The practical route from New York via San Francisco, Honolulu, Yokohama, Shanghai, Rome, Paris, London, back to New York is about 22,850 miles. The only part of this trip that has not yet been traveled by airplane is the 6,237 miles from Yokohama to San Francisco.
Q. What counties are included in the Parliament of North Ireland? W. B.
A. Antrim, Armagh, Cavan, Donegal, Down, Fermanagh, Londonderry, Monaghan and Tyrone are the counties represented in the Parliament of North Ireland.

A. The Public Health Service says that yawning restores the equilibrium of the air pressure between the middle ear and the outside air. The result is often a feeling of relaxation.
Q. Please give the full name and age of the King of Siam. H. W. L.

A. The Navy Department says that this dial is used for target firing. It is a comparatively new device.
Q. Do cabbages grow as high as ten feet above the ground in Jersey, England? H. D. A.
A. The Department of Agriculture says it is true that cabbages grow as high as ten feet from the ground in Jersey, England. These are not the head cabbage variety, as in this country, but are forage cabbage varieties. These tall cabbage plants are called Jersey kale, or cow cabbages.
Q. I would like to know whether mercury is a conductor of electricity? W. D.
A. All metals are conductors of electricity to some degree. Mercury being a metal, is also a conductor of electricity.
Q. Who would be addressed regarding a case in which a pardon by the President is desired? W. T. K.
A. The attorney in charge of pardons in the Department of Justice takes charge of all applications for executive clemency, except in army and navy cases.
Q. Is asbestos mined? E. L.
A. The United States Geological Survey states that some asbestos is mined and some is quarried. That of Arizona is in a pith formation and it is necessary to drive tunnels to mine it. It runs in both veins and blanket formation. When asbestos is mined or quarried it is like rock and is milled into loose fibers.
Q. Why are hangnails so called? R. G.
A. The word "hangnail" is a corruption of agnail. It is derived from two words meaning trouble or vexation, and nail.

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright 1920)

THE BAG IS MISSING

Daddy Lorimer let us into the big house by the side door. We had to wait upon ourselves for the servants, except those who attended dear mother had gone to town to attend a wedding.

Chris had not been wounded, she had fainted. Her nervous tension had snapped when the detectives fired into the bucket.

I left Katherine and Dr. Spence to take care of her and hurried downstairs to report to her father and brother.

I met Bob tearing up the steps. "Where's my bag, Jane?"

"How should I know?" I asked and I wanted to add, "why should I care?" I didn't care for anything in the world since I never, never could care for my husband again.

"My bag is gone!" "You mean lost—or stolen?" "Don't know! We've just found out that in the excitement created by those lovers at the bend of the road, and by Chris' collapse, nobody thought about the jewels!"

"Maybe Spence took the bag up stairs!" "How could he? He was helping me carry Chris!" "Morrison then?"

"He was directing his men!"

"Do you mean to tell me that your lovely English bag has been lost?"

My sudden irritation about his leather luggage restored Bob to his usual composure.

"My dear," he drawled "somebody has mislaid those diamonds."

It was good to be alone with my husband. I prolonged the moment I sat down on the stairs.

"Probably the bag was left in the car," I suggested. "Phone Edouard!"

"Car!—the wires are clipped Morrison and Spence and I will run down to the garage and get it!"

"You mean you'll leave us girls with Daddy, who is helpless—and Mother and Chris in bed—and burglars glaring into every window maybe?"

"Jane, what's the matter with you?" There wasn't a hint of sympathy in my husband's voice. Plainly, he was irritated. "You usually have so much sand!"

Then from the upper landing, came Katherine's glorious contralto. "Honestly, Bobbie, I'm scared half to death too!"

Habit prevailed in my husband. Katherine had been "a cry baby" as a little girl and he had comforted her. I knew all the family legends. At most mechanically he left me, mount ed the stairs—and became sympathetic.

"Kath, it will take only 10 minutes to rush down to the garage and back. Don't worry!"

I was furious. Because I was strong I could stand alone! I needed comfort as much as Katherine did. I flew down the stairs and joined Daddy.

"Be game, little girl! Morrison's men ought to be here soon!" "They should have been here 10 minutes ago!" Morrison consulted his watch. "I don't like the looks of things!"

Spence would not leave Chris for all the royal gems on the globe, he averred. So Bob and Morrison went down to the garage alone.

True to Bob's promise they were back in 10 minutes. And they came without that adorable English bag!

The auto had never turned up at the garage at all!

FIANCE DEAD; GIRL ALSO TAKES LIFE

Newspaper Publicity Is Blamed for Suicide of Superior Girl.

Superior—Despondent and haunted by the publicity given the suicide of her sweetheart, Julius Cook of Duluth, Miss Bertha Burrichter, 34 years old, on Wednesday brought to a tragic end the shattered romance of her life. For six years she had lived happily in the thought that this summer she would marry the Duluth financier. Plans had been made for the wedding, a "honeymoon" filled with things to be used in her new home, had been carefully built up. Cook, her fiance, began playing the wheat market; he lost heavily last Thursday night. The intended groom put the period to his earthly existence from the flaming end of a revolver. Wednesday night the intended bride was dead, a bullet hole through her brain.

Hides in Shed.
Relatives of the dead girl Wednesday night accused newspapers, through the medium of unrelenting publicity, with having driven the girl to suicide. She had always seemed happy, they said, until Cook killed himself Thursday night in the Duluth office of his brother after taking a $50,000 loss in the grain market.

Kaukauna—That the Kaukauna post of the American legion will have enough funds to carry it through the football season is assured since the business men of the city "came through" in a way that showed their attitude toward athletics. The committee in charge of soliciting for funds have not yet finished their work and there is still a chance for those who have not contributed to help.

The exact amount of money guaranteed the legion has not been determined but it will be enough for a successful season unless the expectations of the men are not satisfied by the remainder of those who have not yet been approached.

A number of firms contributed much more than was expected of them. The railroad T. M. C. A. offered a dressing room in the basement of the building as well as the use of the shower baths

YAEGER LAUGHS AT WABENO OFFICIALS

Bank Robbery Suspect Taking Entire Matter as a Huge Joke.

Crandon, Wis.—Chalmers Yaegers and Lawrence Lesperance faced preliminary trial here on Wednesday charged with robbing the Wabeno State bank of $32,000 in cash and securities in July.

The two men, who were captured at Chippewa Falls last Saturday, were brought to Crandon from Wabeno Wednesday morning under heavy guard.

The state will request that bail be set at $20,000 each. It was announced, Willis Lesperance, brother of Lawrence, who was arrested shortly after the robbery, is in jail here due to his inability to raise the $20,000 bail fixed by the court "Frenchie" Yaegers, Chalmers Yaegers' brother, is at liberty on $2,500 bail. He is charged with being an accessory in the robbery.

Yaegers was on Tuesday identified as the "debonair bandit" who calmly walked into the Wabeno bank and suggested that everyone stick up their hands and not get excited, by Ross Richardson, the cashier.

"I remember Yaegers very distinctly," Sheriff Miller reported Richardson as saying. "He was very polite, but extremely business like in his commands. He appeared to be the leader, as his companions acted on his instruction."

Yaegers, according to Sheriff Miller, only grinned and remarked that "this duck must be crazy." He didn't appear to be upset by the identification and took the matter more as a joke.

Although the two suspects appear in a jocular mood and refer to their arrest as a "good joke on somebody," authorities are taking extraordinary precautions to guard against any attempt to escape.

BADGER BANKERS ARE DISCOURAGING OVERDRAFT EVIL

Bank Deposits in Wisconsin
Decreased Ten Millions in Two Months.

Fifty-five banks in Wisconsin are named on the last overdraft honor roll just issued by the state banking department at Madison. This is an increase of one over the number on the honor roll issued April 28, this year.

All banks having no overdrafts and banks having overdrafts of less than one-tenth of one percent are named on the honor roll. That banks throughout the state are making progress in discouraging overdrafts is shown by comparing previous honor rolls with the one just issued. On Nov. 15, 1920, 42 banks were named on the honor roll and 251 banks very nearly secured places. This number gradually increased until June 30 when 55 banks were named on the honor roll and 320 very nearly secured mention.

The bank of Little Chute is the only bank in this county which had no overdrafts. The following banks had overdrafts of less than one-tenth of one percent during the period between April 28 and June 30. Appleton State Bank, Outagamie County Bank, Freedom State Bank, Greenville State Bank, Bank of Hortonville, Bank of Kaukauna, Farmers and Merchants Bank at Kaukauna, Kimberly State Bank, Bank of Menasha, Neenah State Bank, Bank of New London and the Farmers State Bank at New London.

Deposits Decrease

Bank deposits in the state decreased $10,636,951.32 between April 28 and June 30, according to bulletin No. 6, issued by the department. The bulletin states that the decrease "is natural because, owing to conditions, a large amount of money is required in the financing of growing crops."

Twelve banks in the state have increased their capital stock in an aggregate amount of $275,000. The only new charter issued during the period was to the Eau Claire Security State bank which is capitalized at $50,000.

Bankers are urged, by Marshall Cousins, state commissioner of banking, to discourage and refuse making loans at this time of stringency upon nonessentials and to conserve their resources as far as possible to take care of the legitimate and essential requirements of their immediate communities. Bankers are also urged to warn their customers against throwing their money away upon "wild-cat" investments which are reported to be flooding the country.

General Delivery's Sharp Eyes Scan Correspondence

Clandestine Letter Writing
Doesn't Escape Careful Supervision.

Old General Delivery, Appleton postoffice, smiles now and then at Uncle Sam's position in the postal system. It was explained to the public that the grim old general was for the express use of transients only.

But a few people in agreement with James Whitcomb Riley that it somehow adds a charm to the good a trifle with a little dust of harm, conceived the idea of using the general delivery to serve their own purposes. Of course it isn't done very often or very long but it is tried.

If mother objects to a correspondence between her daughter Mary and "that Jack Brown," Mary may be tempted to employ the general delivery window to evade watchful parental eyes which may be accustomed to scan carefully every piece of mail delivered to the house. So Jack addresses Mary, "General Delivery, Appleton, Wis." Mary begins calling at the general delivery window for letters. This may possibly continue three weeks or it may last only for a day or two. But sooner or later, the clerk at the window "catches on" and some day when Mary calls for letters she is asked, "Are you the Miss Mary Good who lives at 2944 Harris-st?" Forced to admit that she is, she receives the polite request "to please use the city delivery." It's then that Old General Delivery smiles.

Not for Minors

A postal rule forbids the use of the general delivery by minors who are not transients. If it is necessary for them to get their mail in this way, the written consent of their parents is required.

But it is not always youth that tries to "put something" over on the Old General. Friend husband may be persona non grata to Mrs. Discontent for whom some other gentleman hath charms. Correspondence in this case is sweet if it is clandestine. The more secret it is, the more sweet. Should it unhappily be discovered by the neglected hub, it might prove to be very bitter indeed.

So the only solution seems to be the general delivery. But as in the previous illustration, it can't be done for any extended time. Uncle Sam is not a home wrecker and he stubbornly refuses to allow government agencies to assist in anything the least bit shady if he knows about it. So pretty soon Mrs. Discontent is asked to "Please use the regular city delivery."

The general delivery service is primarily for the purpose of allowing the transient to get his mail. Only two other classes of people are permitted to use the service. The traveling salesman is frequently permitted to use the general delivery as it gives him the opportunity of receiving his mail any time during the day instead of waiting for the regular city delivery. Most traveling salesmen prefer lock boxes so that they may receive mail at any time of the day or night but there is a considerable number who use the general delivery. The person who is not reached by the city delivery has the privilege of using the general delivery or the lock boxes. Persons on the city delivery routes have no access to the general delivery service. It is pointed out that the city delivery system is intended to serve efficiently and satisfactorily and it cannot be declared unacceptable on trivial grounds.

GARREN HONORED IN HIS OWN HOME TOWN

Endorsed and praised by mayors, bankers, farmers, preachers and prominent business men, William A. Garren, the noted scientist, has become one of the most beloved men in America today. Like other great men, he stands well in his home community, where he first became famous.

Just read what they say of Garren in his own home, in Hendersonville, N. C.

Mayor J. Mack Rhodes says: "In perfecting Garren's Tonic, William A. Garren proved his ability to master bad health by combining the great forces of Nature and Science."

Ex-Mayor E. H. Staton, prominent banker says: "Garren's Tonic completely relieved me of indigestion. I shall always feel grateful to Mr. Garren."

R. M. Oates, President of the Light and Power Company says: "I had suffered with indigestion since childhood, but I found perfect relief through the use of Garren's Tonic."

Rev. Burton A. Hall, Nationally known evangelist says: "Since taking Garren's Tonic, I eat better, feel better and weigh more than I have in years. I am no longer bothered with nervous indigestion."

Olis Powers, Chief of Police says: "Garren's Tonic certainly helped me wonderfully when I was run-down in health."

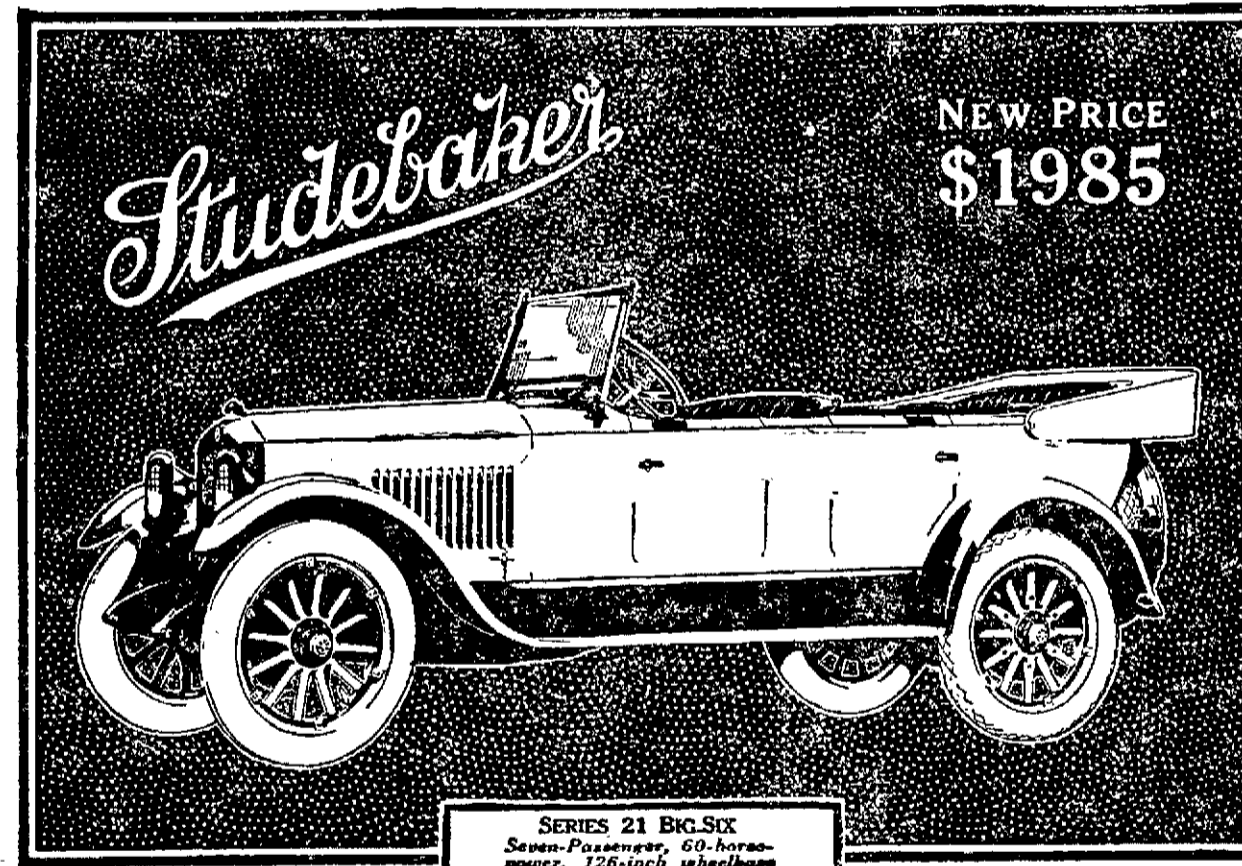

W. G. Staton, Vice-President, Peoples' National Bank: "I can cheerfully recommend Garren's Tonic, especially for stomach trouble."

Hon. G. W. Brooks, tax collector: "Garren's Tonic has overcome a bad case of indigestion that has been troubling me for months."

These are but a few of the thousands of statements coming from men and women who have taken Garren's Tonic for indigestion, constipation, nervousness, rheumatism and other diseases that come from run-down health, neglect of the stomach and impurities of the blood. If you want to know what they think of W. A. Garren in Appleton ask Schlitz Bros. You will then know why so many people here are asking for Garren's Tonic. It is scientifically designed to help you — unless you are an exception to thousands of those who praise this celebrated American. You are now given the privilege of obtaining the same medicine these distinguished men have taken time to praise so liberally.

Garren's Tonic is sold in Appleton by Schlitz Bros. in Seymour by S. G. McCord; in Bear Creek by John M. Statler; in New London by Trayer & Co.; in Dale by Abend's Pharmacy; in Greenville by H. H. Schutze and in Kaukauna by E. A. Mayer.

IN times of adjustment when people consider carefully what they get for every dollar they spend, a product of merit, properly priced, receives just consideration. Also, the standing and reputation of a manufacturer is given much thought in times like the present. These are the reasons why the great Studebaker factories are taxed to capacity to meet the present demand for Studebaker cars.

—Inscription on an old cannon
at Dover, England

After every shot old cannons had to be cleaned. The chemical and physical action of the priming fouled the barrel and marked it with tiny "pits."

Modern rifles also suffer from the effects of the priming. For years manufacturers have studied to reduce the effects of the priming on the barrel. And now a new, wonderful priming has been developed in the U. S. laboratories.

The priming in all
U. S. Rim-Fires reduces fouling and erosion
It lengthens the life of a rifle to a remarkable degree. The rifle is easier to clean. It is more accurate, because a barrel worn or pitted by ordinary priming loses in accuracy. The slightest effect in the barrel is multiplied by the distance the bullet travels.

Be good to your rifle. "Load it well and keep it clean" by using only U. S. Rim-Fires and cleaning it before putting away. We have in stock all popular styles and sizes for all makes of rifles. Money back if you are not entirely satisfied.

Coal Deadlock BUYERS VS. DEALERS

Situation is Serious

Coal dealers do not own nor can they afford to own enough motor trucks or horse drawn vehicles to be able to deliver a sufficient amount of coal to keep us warm during the coming winter, if the delivery of coal is deferred until cold weather sets in.

It is very improbable that we will have another mild winter.

MARTIAL PROGRAM FOR CALF BREEDERS AT WISCONSIN FAIR

Youngsters Will Be Under Excellent Supervision While in Fair Park.

When the boys and girls of Outagamie county who are members of the First National Bank Calf club go to the state fair next week they will camp with a large number of boys and girls from all parts of the state who will attend the state roundup of all boys and girls agricultural clubs.

This will be the sixth year that the camp has been conducted at the fair. In forming the camp the object was to provide competent supervision for the children and to arrange for their recreation for them during their leisure time. Events are spent in entertainment and helpful talks and the children are given the opportunity of forming a wide acquaintance with others from different parts of the state.

The camp is under the direction of the Young Men's Christian association of Wisconsin and will be supervised by Dr. C. C. Atman, southeastern district secretary. Capable directors for both the boys and girls will have charge of the various activities. Club leaders will assist the directors. The number of adult leaders will be large enough so that there will be one supervisor for every group of ten boys or girls.

The camp is located east of the automobile building. Separate quarters with necessary conveniences are provided. A large tent will serve as the dining room and meals are served at group tables in family style. The camp management has always made it a rule to serve excellent food in sufficient quantities and change of menu. A martial program which gives variety and rest to the camp life is rigidly followed each day. This is the schedule: 8:30 breakfast, 9:00 devotional exercises and announcements, 9:30 camp duties, 10:00 preparation for contests, 10:30 contests from 10 to 12 o'clock. Dinner is served at 12:30 and contest work or sightseeing at the fair lasts from 1:30 to 5:00 in the afternoon. Supper is served at 5:30 and the interval between games. Tattoo is sound at 10 o'clock and taps at 10:30.

Each morning from 9 to 12 o'clock and part of the afternoon will be used in work connected with exhibits and in visits to places of interest about the grounds. Agricultural lectures and demonstrations will be given frequently. Home talent entertainment illustrated lectures, camp songs and general good times will occupy the evenings.

Standard equipment for children going to camp consists of two pairs of heavy blankets, small durable pillow, soft hat or cap, handkerchiefs, flannel sleeping garments, soap and box, towels, toothbrush and dentifrice, brush and comb and drinking cup. A camp bank will be provided at which every camper will have the privilege of leaving his money or other valuables. The camp management advises children against taking valuable watches or jewelry to camp.

Parents or others who desire to write children in camp may address them at Boys and Girls' camp State Fair park, West Allis Wis.

TRUANCY LAW IS MORE STRINGENT

Children Must Attend School Until They Finish Eighth Grade.

An interpretation of the new school truancy law during the last session of the legislature has been received in a letter to Principal W. S. Ford of the vocational school.

According to this interpretation the law as applied to rural districts, requires that children must attend school until they have reached their fifteenth birthday unless previous to that they have finished the eighth grade or attended school nine full years.

The law applies similarly to children in the cities with the additional requirement that between the ages of 15 and 16 they must attend school at least half time. Between the ages of 16 and 18, they are required to attend school at least one day each week.

County Superintendent Florence Jenkins explains that the course prescribed for rural schools presumes that children will enter school after they have attained their sixth birthday. This permits them to comply with the new truancy law and be finished with the common school at the age of 15. "Most children now enter school at their sixth birthday," Mrs. Jenkins said, "and but comparatively few are more than 14 when they complete the eight grades."

During the last year he contracted and wrote for LeComte and Flesher the book lyrics and music of the fantastic musical extravaganza, "Listen to Me" which has proven a masterpiece in every respect.

The score had sufficient merit as to prompt Mr. Wm. and Sons, foremost music publishers of the world, to negotiate for exclusive rights to its publication. SO WEAK SO NERVOUS

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. PHILLIPS, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous depression, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter proves that no other remedy so successful as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

$30,000,000 Worth Of Cigar Boxes Go To Waste

Uncle Sam Has Elaborate Method of Keeping Tab on Cigarmakers.

Because Uncle Sam is a particular old gentleman, millions of dollars worth of cigar boxes are thrown away or destroyed each year and a considerable portion of this "waste" occurs right here in Appleton, according to cigar retailers and manufacturers.

Every cigar box is plainly stamped with the notice that it is not to be used for cigars again and immediately after the box has been emptied the revenue stamp it bears must be scratched or removed entirely. Cigar retailers say that should a revenue officer find unscratched stamps on empty cigar boxes the dealer would be liable to prosecution.

The waste in cigar boxes in the United States is variously estimated to range between $30,000,000 and $36,000,000 annually. A few years ago, Jacob Jacoby said cigar boxes of very good quality could be purchased by cigar manufacturers at seven or eight cents each. At present the best grades of cigar boxes cost in the neighborhood of 25 cents each. These are made of fine cedar but a cheaper grade, made of basswood may be had for a few cents less. The price quoted is the cost of the box complete, stamped and labeled with the name of the manufacturer and the brand.

Check On Manufacturers

It is likely that Uncle Sam "enforces" this annual waste with some reluctance but so far no other way has been found of solving the revenue problem in regard to cigars. Every time a tobacco distributing house buys tobacco, it is required to report to the revenue officer of the district. Every sale it makes to the cigar and chewing tobacco manufacturers and cigar makers is also reported in detail to the revenue office.

Every time these various manufacturers receive a supply of raw tobacco from the warehouse they must report to the revenue officer. In this way a complete check is kept of the amount of tobacco that is being manipulated. Uncle Sam has worked out the tax. If a cigarmaker does not make the usual number of cigars from a specified amount of tobacco, the government knows it and the maker is required to pay a "shortage." Mr. Bachmann said

It would be hard for the government to keep this elaborate tabulation accurately if refilling of boxes was permitted. Therefore the law cautions all persons "not to use this box for tobacco again."

tables showing the number of cigars that can be made from a hundred pounds of tobacco of the various grades and qualities and in this way can keep a fairly accurate tab on manufacturers as to whether they are dodging the revenue.

Complex Reports

F. X. Bachmann explains the reports that cigar and other tobacco manufacturers must make to the revenue office. The blanks provide space for a record for each day of the month and also for a total for the entire month. The report must state the amount of tobacco received, the output of cigars or other tobacco product, and the amount of waste. The number of empty cigar boxes received and the number filled and sold must be accurately given. The latter report is arranged to include the boxes of various capacities, 25, 50, 100 or 125 cigars.

By tabulating figures from all sources at the revenue offices, Uncle Sam knows if a manufacturer is dodging the tax. If a cigarmaker does not make the usual number of cigars from a specified amount of tobacco, the government knows it and the maker is required to pay a "shortage." Mr. Bachmann said

It would be hard for the government to keep this elaborate tabulation accurately if refilling of boxes was permitted. Therefore the law cautions all persons "not to use this box for tobacco again."

THREATEN TO CUT OFF WATERPOWER

Millowners Accused of Violating Law Governing Flow of Water.

Paper manufacturers of lower Fox river and others who use water power in the operation of their plants have been notified by the war department if their is any violation of the law relative to drawing of water for power purposes during the present low stage of water they are liable to be deprived of the entire flow. The notice was sent out from the United States Engineer's office at Milwaukee and reads:

"Reports to this office indicate that water is being temporarily ponded in pools on the lower Fox river with the result that down river pools are temporarily deprived of flow and vessels are greatly delayed and damaged by groundings. Such action, either at government or private dams, creating an obstruction to navigation, is a violation of Section 10 of River and Harbor act approved March 3, 1899.

"The use of water for power whenever the level of any pool is at or below the crest of the dam which retains the pool is in violation of Rule 12 prescribed by the secretary of war, Feb. 15, 1895.

"During the present and all low water periods a uniform flow of the river is absolutely essential to proper maintenance of navigation. Unless any surplus water not needed for navigation is passed through water power wheels in such manner as to maintain uniform flow of the river at all times, including Sundays and holidays, the use of water for power must necessarily be discontinued altogether to prevent the creation of obstructions to navigation.

"This matter is brought to your attention so that such steps will be taken as will prevent further violations of the law."

FOREST FIRES IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN

In driving to Marquette, Mich., a week ago, Henry Hegner, who returned Wednesday night, found it necessary to make a detour of several miles near Escanaba, Mich., because of forest fires, the smoke of which was so dense it was impossible to penetrate it. The flames at that point were confined to a 25-acre field in which there was evidently great quantities of peat as the fire had burned into the ground several feet and the air was filled with ashes. The fire at that time covered a front of several miles, but has since been extinguished by heavy rains.

Mr. Hegner said it is an easy matter for a driver to find his way to Marquette providing he follows trunk line 15 which passes through Appleton. He does not advise anyone to take that route, however, because of improvements that are being made.

In Michigan a highway is kept open while being improved and detours are made only in extreme cases. Tar macadam is extensively used and while one side of a highway is being treated the other side is open to traffic. The Garvey Weyenberg Construction Co. of Appleton is at work on a several mile contract a short distance south of Marquette. The road the entire distance to Marquette, taken as a whole, is good.

VETERAN CONDUCTORS DRIVE OUT YOUNG MEN

Many new faces are now seen among conductors on Northwestern, Soo and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway passenger trains going to the removal of numerous trains on each of the roads. The conductors rank according to their years of services and the older men are "bumping" the younger men. While no definite information has been given out it has been reported that the St. Paul train that has been leaving Appleton Junction at 10:20 at night for several years is among those soon to be removed.

Sells to Church

H. J. Foth has sold his residence at 680 North-st., to the First English Lutheran church. Mr. Foth plans to remain in Appleton until about Nov. 1 during which time he will dispose of his household goods. He and his family plan to make their home in Pasadena, Calif., where a daughter, Mrs. H. J. Payne resides.

WORK AT HOSPITAL SLIGHTLY DELAYED

Begin Drilling Well to Supply
Lutheran Aid Building
With Water.

C. R. Meyer Sons Co. has resumed building operations on the new hospital after a delay of several days caused by failure of granite water tables to arrive here. The company has also commenced work on the new hospital at Pewaukee. A carload of equipment that had been used on other jobs was shipped to Pewaukee Tuesday.

The Western Engineering and Construction Co. which is building the new office building for the Aid Association for Lutherans have the foundation walls about completed. Work has been commenced on the new well which is to supply water for the building and which is being drilled near the northwest corner of the structure.

Work upon the installation of the new front in the Strong & Warner building is temporarily delayed by a misfit shipment of plate glass.

J. E. Voigt expects to commence moving his stock of drugs into his new quarters at the corner of Morrison-st. and College-ave. by the end of the week. He will be settled in his new location not later than Sept. 1.

Rooster Gets Ride On Pilot Of Rail Engine

A flock of spring chickens at Appleton Junction that has the appearance of being especially well fed depend almost entirely for subsistence on the traveling public. Passengers made a practice of throwing their surplus lunches out of the windows of the coaches and the chickens have learned this and now meet the majority of trains.

Two young roosters were enjoying a sweet morsel between the tracks Wednesday and did not observe the locomotive of a passenger train rapidly approaching them until it was only a few feet distant. One rooster in his effort to escape took flight across the track ahead of the locomotive and was caught by the pilot which carried him several hundred feet to the depot.

As soon as the bird got his bearings he made a dash for an open field and has not been seen since. The other rooster was hit by the train and was picked up by a boy who mistook him for a dead bird. As the lad was pondering what he would do with him the rooster flew out of his arms and over an adjoining fence.

CONTINUE INJUNCTION AGAINST STATE BAR LAW

Madison, Wis.—The temporary injunction restraining Prohibition Commissioner Smith from enforcing the provision of the new prohibition law requiring alterations or removal of bars, was continued on Wednesday by Judge E. Rav Stevens in circuit court here. He stated that not enough evidence was presented to furnish grounds for a permanent injunction and said that further hearing would be held and the case brought to trial as soon as possible.

Must Furnish Bond.
Requirement was made that Hugo Alby, Milwaukee plaintiff, deposit $1,000 bond, in the order of the court. "It is impossible to determine from the very brief allegations of the pleadings, which constitute the only proof before the court, whether the means adopted by the legislature in this set are reasonable for the accomplishment of the purpose in view when the statute was enacted," the order says.

Who Will Get These Tires?

THEY MAY BE OFFERED TO YOU
By MAIL—SO KNOW WHAT THEY'RE WORTH—ONE CENT A POUND

An immense quantity of what once were good standard tires, but now are almost worthless, has been bought from the French government junk piles by certain Americans at one cent a pound.

These tires—which bear the maker's name and serial number—lay out in the weather in France, exposed to the elements for a year and a half.

Powdered and re-wrapped, they are now being offered the public by mail, under various selling disguises, as extraordinary bargains. But they're not bargains, in fact they're a swindle when you pay more than 1c a pound.

The fraud is now being fought by the Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which has issued a bulletin of warning to tire buyers.

Reputable publications have refused to accept advertising which misrepresents these tires, and the mails are now being resorted to in the effort to dispose of them at a staggering profit.

While these tires are being sold through various channels, the tire buyers will do well to make absolutely certain that he gets a real guarantee with every tire he buys. His best insurance is to buy at home.

TEAM THAT GETS BREAKS WILL WIN, STECKBAUER SAYS

Oshkosh Manager Has Visions of Great Ball Game Here Sunday Afternoon.

"Tell August Brandt to take enough cigars with him to the game next Sunday—he will chew up a lot of them before the fight ends" is the advice received from Manager Steckbauer of the Oshkosh Overalls who come here next Sunday to battle the Brandts. Contrary to his usual custom Steckbauer is not oozing confidence in every word. He is looking forward to a lot of trouble Sunday afternoon. Steckbauer is convinced that there is little to choose between the two clubs and he figures that the team which gets the breaks will get the game. He maintains that Schultz and Stevenson are evenly matched "as pitchers and that the rest of the teams are about on par. Apparently the Oshkosh manager had a little difficulty in a financial way at Kimberly last Sunday and he is throwing some vague hints about bolting from the Valley league. It is said there is a strong sentiment for reorganizing the league next year to include a few more larger cities and drop some of the smaller places. Steckbauer is pretty proud of his man Pohlman. Overall third baseman who has belted out homers in the last three games. He also calls attention to Boettge who has hit safely in the last 11 games. Murphy and his men are saying it is too bad they are working hard. The boys are getting in some good looks of practice and will be in fine shape. Schultz has promised to be in A-1 condition. It should be a real fight.

RICKARD'S PARD BUSY WITH MOTION PICTURES

Chicago.—Fred C. Quimby, New York producer and joint owner of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight pictures with Tex Rickard, has arrived here to make application through regular channels for the public presentation of the films in Chicago and Illinois. Mr. Quimby said he would apply immediately to the censorship board for a permit to exhibit. "If it is refused me I do not know what I shall do. I am not here to force anything upon the authorities or the public," he said. Immediately upon his arrival he received a communication and copies of a resolution from the Chicago Federation of Labor. This resolution read in part: "Whereas it will do persons who could spare the money to travel to the Atlantic coast were entitled to see the fight, poorer folks at first have a right to see the pictures of it."

PLAY SECOND GAME FOR FACTORY LEAGUE TITLE

Kimberly Clark and Combined Locks baseball teams will mix in the second of their series of three games to determine the championship of the Inter-factory league at Kimberly Saturday afternoon. Kimberly won the first game by bunching hits in the last few innings. If Kimberly wins again Saturday it will end the series. The third game, if necessary, will be played at Kimberly. Both teams are set for a real fight. There is little to choose between the squads. Both teams are well balanced and have excellent pitching material.

Buddies Fight Again

Baltimore.—"Over the top again." Bob Martin, who won the heavy weight championship of the A. E. F. by defeating Fay Keiser, Cumberland, Md., in the finals at the Cirque de Paris in 1919, will attempt to repeat the performance for the benefit of his old buddies of khaki days when they meet here Sept. 3.

The occasion is "Buddie Week." Nearly 100,000 ex-service men are expected in the city during the reunion. While the "Buddie Week" program is sportive throughout, the one big event is the Martin-Keiser fight which will be staged in a big army seating 12,000 persons.

There will be track meets, relay races, boxing tournaments and other sporting events.

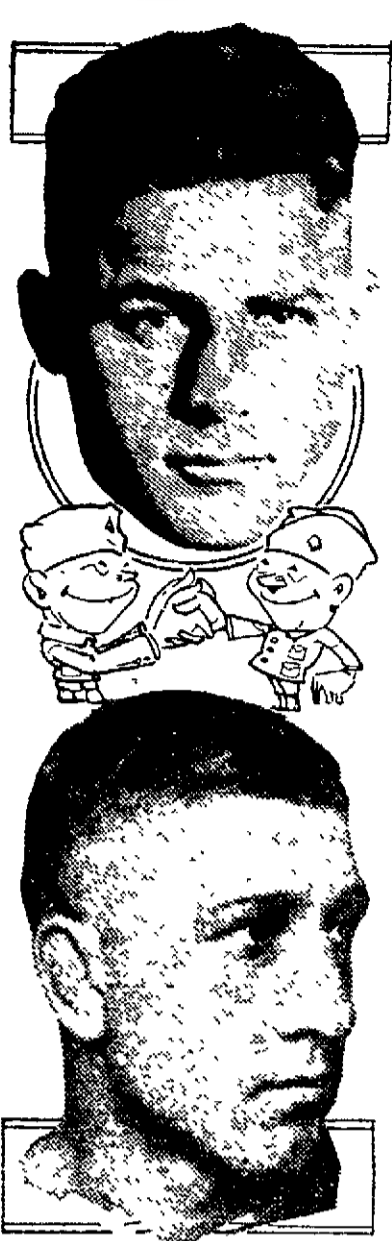

Invite Harding

Spike Webb who refereed overseas and who was coach of the triumphant Olympic boxing team is chairman of the committee promoting the Martin-Keiser fight. Invitations have been sent to President Harding, Secretary of War Weeks and his assistant Wainwright, Secretary of the Navy Denby and his assistant, Roosevelt, General Pershing and staff, and other army officials.

Many of the men from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey who saw service overseas were present when Martin and Keiser met in Paris. Some reason for Keiser and felt that the decision should have been a draw. Keiser is a wealthy young farmer of near Cumberland, Md., and he doesn't have to fight for a living. But he does want to whip Bob Martin.

Feud

He has many friends in Western Maryland. A special train is coming to Baltimore from that section. Back over the hills in West Virginia another clan is preparing to charter a special train to see Martin win again. Sort of a feud, as it were. Fay Keiser is no dub of the ring. His one handicap is his weight. He is a light-heavyweight. He fought Harry Greb seven times and on two occasions won decisively. He claims. He never has been knocked out.

NEW CARROLL HEAD SAYS HIS TEAM IS TO BE REAL SQUAD

Former Head of Centre College Plans Big Things for Waukesha School.

Waukesha, Wis.—Keep your eyes on Carroll college.

This is the warning issued by Dr. W. A. Ganfield, who recently resigned the presidency of Center college Danville, Ky., to become the head of Carroll.

"We are going to have a real football team," Dr. Ganfield says.

"We will defeat the University of Wisconsin and possess the championship for Wisconsin within four years."

"This is not boasting. We are going to do it. Watch us this year and then watch us the next two or three years."

Dr. Ganfield saw the wonderful Center college football team develop under his administration. The Center team, coming from a relatively obscure college of 300 students, defeated Princeton and West Virginia in 1920 and last year played Harvard an interesting enough game to receive an invitation to return this year.

"What was done at Center will be done at Carroll," is confident prediction of the new president of Carroll. "We shall start this fall developing a team, and you can believe me or not Carroll will have the state championship and will humble the university within four years."

Sport Views And News

Football fans throughout the country are hoping that Ralph Capron will be able to clear out from under the forgery charges which have been filed against him at Long Beach, Calif. It is claimed that Capron and an associate have been putting some bad paper out in connection with a mine promotion deal. In his day Capron was an A-1 footballer and those who knew him personally feel that charges against the nigger star have been enlarged greatly.

Suzanne Lenglen has suffered a relapse and Dame Rumor has it that she will soon sail for sunny France without playing a return match with Molla Mallory. American court champion. This would be unfortunate. It would tend to put the Paris tennis fix in a peculiar light and further more would rob the net enthusiasts of having opportunity of seeing two of the great women players in the world in action.

The Bay State Boxing commission has refused to put its official O. K. on the proposed bout between William Brennan and Harry Darnelle, the fighting cop from Washington who is casting his shadow over the fistie horizon. The fight board in withholding its sanction of the scrap stated that Brennan's superiority would make it an uneven encounter. Of course, its notion of its business but we think the "Pharisees" are taking a whole lot for granted.

Professional baseball received quite a wallop by the action of a Chicago paper in cutting down its major league publicity. There is no doubt but that other papers will probably follow suit and the professionals may before long have to fight for their space. More attention is to be given to amateur sports and the newspaper plans a drive for athletics for all and not for a select few. The more this idea sinks in the better it seems.

TENDLER OUTPOINTED BY SAILOR FRIEDMAN

By United Press Leased Wire Philadelphia, Pa. — Lew Tandler's chances against Champion Benny Leonard looked less bright Thursday as a result of his match here last night with Sailor Friedman. Friedman, with a vicious rally in the eighth and final round, outpointed Tandler who is scheduled to meet Leonard this fall.

The 1921 baseball season went down in history as a red lettered one in Chicago. Both the Sox and the Cubs are hopelessly out of the running and if it wasn't for the outstanding inferiority of the Phils and Athletics, the two Windy city teams would be safely entrenched in the cellar holes of the National and American leagues. No wonder semi pro ball in Chicago this year is proving a great money maker.

GREEN BAY LEAGUERS WILL PLAY AT SEYMOUR

Green Bay — Green Bay's Lake Shore league ball team will cross bats with Duck Creek, Thursday afternoon at the Seymour Fair in the feature athletic attraction. A record sized crowd is expected to witness the game. The Creeks will present a bolstered battle front. Eddie Glick and Frank Jensen, who saw service with the Boys at the start of the season will be in Duck Creek's line up. "Iron Man" Becker is slated to do the hurling for the Howards.

Chief Le Roy will be on the slab for Green Bay. Aside from Bixby and Maes, the Bays will present their regular battle front. Van Dyck will play right field for the Leaguers while either Metoxen or Chief House will cavort in the left garden.

GILBERT WINS GOLF MATCH FROM STEVENS

A. C. Gilbert defeated John Stevens in the first round of the second flight of the annual club golf tournament of Riverview Country club. The match was played Wednesday afternoon. All of the first rounds will be played this week and the second rounds will be played next week. The match between Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Stevens was the only one played Wednesday.

SOME MANAGER!

Spencer Abbott

Memphis, Tenn.—Here is Spencer Abbott, Memphis manager, who is all most certain to be at the helm of a major league club in 1922.

Abbott has already received offers from a few clubs in the "big show," but is waiting till the end of the present season before taking any action.

Spencer came near being the St. Louis Brown manager this season. The field narrowed down to he and Lee Fohl, and the latter was chosen. Abbott turned down offers from the Philadelphia Nationals in the Pacific Coast League.

"I don't want a big league job just to have one," says Abbott. "When I do go up, it will be with a club that I think I can make a winner out of."

Winning pennants is his specialty. He has been managing about 12 years and won 10 pennants. Memphis is comfortably seated in first place in the Southern League race.

ARCADES TAKE ON TYPEWRITER TEAM

The Jense Arcade baseball team will run into some real opposition next Sunday afternoon when it meets the powerful Mollie Typewriter team at Oshkosh. The Mollie team has made an imposing record this season, defeating such teams as the Rueping Leather Co. of Fond du Lac and the Lakesides of Neenah. Arthur "Lefty" Strutz will hurl for the Arcades. Tommy Maloney, the Arcades regular pitcher, will be out of the game in order to be in shape for the game with the Onetida Indians at the Northwestern Fair at DePere Aug. 30. Billy Peotter will be on the receiving end. The Arcades have won all their games so far this year and have challenged the West End Merchants to a series of games to determine the city championship.

The ZR-2 will lift 45 tons, as against 25 tons for the R-34. It has a maximum speed of 70 miles an hour, but on the homecoming trips it will be throttled down to a maximum of 60 miles an hour to protect its engines. Can Cruise 6500 Miles The giant ship carries 30 tons of gasoline and has a cruising radius of 6,500 miles, twice that of the R-34. If necessary, it could cross the Atlantic in 26 hours, but 73 hours probably will be taken to make the forthcoming trip.

Director-Governor Maurice Cleary of the Aero Club of America is at the head of a reception committee of officials of the Aero Club and the Manufacturers Aircraft Association. Included in the program will be a dinner tendered Commander L. H. Maxfield and the 71 officers and men of the ZR-2. "This is America's own airship and its coming will mark a great step in the development of aviation," said Cleary. "It is larger than the R-34 which visited here two years ago, and is crossing the ocean manned by an all-American crew." Spectacular Landing The spectacular phase of the arrival of the ZR-2 will be its landing at Lakehurst, 7 miles from the Jersey coast, just south of Lakewood, the fashionable New Jersey resort. Cost of the hangar was between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. It took nearly two years to build and with workshops, gas plants and power houses occupies a reservation of 1,400 acres. MURDER MOTIVE OF YOUTH IS MYSTERYBritish Authorities Are Puzzled
When Two Little Girls Are Murdered.

London—Harold Jones, 11-year-old errand boy is either an archfiend or the persecuted victim of a secret society.

British crime experts are trying with little result to ascertain which of the two theories is correct. Seventeen days after the boy was acquitted of attacking and murdering 8-year-old Freda Burnell, he was locked up in connection with the murder of 11-year-old Florence Little. The body of the little girl was found concealed in the attic of the Jones home in the little Welsh village of Aberllynny.

Freda's body was found in a lonely lane six months ago. She had been sent to the store in which the Jones boy worked as errand boy. Police charged he killed her in a shed back of the store and carried her body to the lane. All through his trial, the boy denied his guilt with the utmost calm and watched proceedings with apparent unconcern.

Shortly after he had been acquitted the little girl was playing on the street with Florence Jones, Harold's smaller sister. Her father was watching the play. He stepped into the house for tobacco and when he returned, found that his daughter had disappeared.

A search was organized, both Harold Jones and his father joining it. The boy suggested that bloodhounds be used in the hunt.

After a night of searching, police decided to search every house in Aberllynny. In the attic of the Jones home the body of the little girl was found, with a gash in the throat and the head cut as with a blunt instrument.

Threats of violence were made against Harold, and police rushed him to jail in another part of the county.

One angle of the case that puzzles experts is this:

Five days after Jones' acquittal on the first charge, he received an unsigned letter with a London postmark containing a sketch of a heart and dagger and the words "Beware, Ven-geance." Also the German word, "Vernagerecht," the name of a famous secret tribunal of Westphalia, Germany.

"CATCHING" BANK ROBBERS!

This photo was taken one minute after two robbers were shot as they tried to hold up the bank at Bruce ton W Va. The bandit in the center of the picture was killed. The one sitting up, on the right, was wounded. On the left, with the rifle is Dr. DeFor head of the Vigilance Committee. He fired the shot that killed the bandit. Four men attempted the robbery, two others being captured later.

ARREST BOYS HERE
ON FATHER'S PLEAYouth Steals Dad's Automobile at Escanaba and Go on Long Joyride.

Charged with stealing a Ford car from their father, Gilbert and Ervin Haefs, 17 and 18, of Escanaba, Mich. and their cousin, Ervin Burmeister, 23 of Seymour were arrested in Appleton Wednesday by Chief of Police George T. Prim and Officers John R. Duval and A. P. Deligen.

The Haefs live on a farm near Escanaba and a few days ago in company with their cousin they left the house to drive relatives to the railway station at Escanaba. After leaving the depot they decided they would drive the car on to Appleton to visit relatives here. When they had driven outside the city Wisconsin license plates which Burmeister had in his possession were attached to the machine.

Upon the arrival of the trio in Appleton, intoxicated with the success of their escape, they agreed to continue their journey to North Dakota where they planned to secure employment in the harvest fields. When they reached Minneapolis the glamour of the adventure had worn off and they drove back to Appleton. In the mean time, at the request of the father, authorities were searching for the lads.

The three were apprehended in different parts of the city and the machine was recovered at a Superior-street garage. They were turned over to Sergeant Carney of the Escanaba police force.

SAYS SALOONKEEPER
HAS RIGHT TO WHISKYBy United Press Leased Wire
Sheboygan, Wis.—Because a man is a saloonkeeper does not bar him from procuring liquor prescriptions and drinking the liquor anywhere he pleases, Judge John Meyer of the Municipal court has ruled. The case against William Pfeiler was summarily ended when the court held him not guilty of violating the state prohibition law.

Pfeiler was arrested when state dry agents found a glass of whisky on the back bar. The saloonkeeper said it was his own liquor for his own use and legally acquired via the prescription route.

BOYS PLAYING WITH MATCHES START FIRE

A boy playing with matches near an old barn on West College avenue Wednesday afternoon started a fire which resulted in calling out the fire department. The blaze was easily extinguished. Another alarm was sounded about 7 o'clock in the evening when pedestrians noticed smoke escaping from the basement window of a building belonging to the Appleton Sewer Pipe Works. The smoke and gas was found to be escaping from a furnace.
